

Putting a Child in a Little Room

By Patty Obrzut, OT, Penrickton Center for Blind Children

Here is the Little Room.

I lift the Little Room up, and lay a child on the resonance board.

Then I start to lower the Little Room over the child.

I then put the lid on the Little Room and the child is inside playing.

I reverse the process to take a child out of the little room. The weight of this configuration of Little Room is 40 pounds, but, as you can see, I don't lift it off the ground.
